

SHOT DOWN OR MECHANICAL FAILURE?

U.S. Plane Crash Near Saigon Kills 15

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — A twin-engine U. S. Army Caribou transport plane crashed in flames shortly after takeoff south of Saigon today, killing 10 Americans and 5 Vietnamese.

It was the worst single disaster to American forces since the outbreak of hostilities in the Vietnamese anti-Communist war.

A U. S. military spokesman said the crash took place at Tan Hiep air strip, about 25 miles from Saigon in nearby Dinh Tuong Province.

Before today's crash, the worst incident involving American military men in Viet Nam had been the twin crashes of two H34 U.S. Marine Corps helicopters in the mountains of central Viet Nam. The helicopters were shot down by Communist ground fire with a loss of 12 American lives.

Communist guerrillas long have made it a practice to fire on planes landing and taking off at such strips as Tan Hiep, as well as at Saigon Airport.

But it was not known immediately whether the plane was shot down by the Reds or crashed because of mechanical failure.

The plane's pilot radioed the airstrip shortly after takeoff that one of his engines was on fire, the spokesman said.

The plane exploded and burned on impact, the spokesman added.

Medical personnel rushed to the scene had difficulty in identifying the charred remains of the passengers.

The crash came in the wake of a disastrous weekend of violence against Americans helping the Vietnamese government in its fight to crush the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Last Saturday, Communist frogmen were believed to have slipped through security guards to plant an underwater mine against the side of the U.S. aircraft ferry Card, blasting a 28-foot hole in its side and sinking it in the muddy waters of the Saigon River. None of the 73 civilian crewmen was hurt, but the ship was put out of commission. Hours later, other Communist terrorists threw a hand grenade into the midst of a group of American servicemen on the Saigon riverfront near the scene of the Card sinking. Eight Americans were wounded in this attack.

The plane left Saigon this morning for the Mekong River Delta region to the south. It was returning to the capital when the crash occurred about 25 miles southwest of Saigon.

Building Fund Chairman

Spencer Appointed By Salvation Army

H. WESLEY SPENCER

H. Wesley Spencer, retired furniture retailer has accepted the appointment as general chairman of The Salvation Army Bucks County Building Fund Campaign, Charles Coupland, chairman of the Salvation Army's local advisory board, announced today.

Spencer has long been active in business in the Bristol area and also active in local community affairs.

Before the Salvation Army became affiliated with the Bucks County United Fund, he took a leading part in many annual maintenance appeals, and is well qualified to head up the building fund campaign for the erection of a new Citadel of service building, Coupland said.

The estimated overall cost of the building including construction, furnishing and ground will amount to $300,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer reside in Holland. Spencer is service officer of the Robert W. Bracken Post American Legion Post 387; rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Bristol; member of Bristol Lodge No. 25, F.N.A.M., and secretary of the Salvation Army advisory board.

Spencer said, "I feel this to be a great honor and hope that the people of Bucks County will respond to this appeal which will enable the Salvation Army to do more for those in need."

Bristol Nabs 42 Speeders

Forty-two speeders were nabbed by Bristol Borough police in a trap set up in the eastbound lane of Route 13 at Point St., this morning.

Today's trap came in the wake of two accidents on Route 13 since early last Friday morning. One of the accidents proved fatal to a Bristol Borough man.

The last speed trap was conducted last March 24.

Police reported that about half those arrested this morning were from out-of-state. They were given immediate hearings before Justices of the Peace Eugene Spadaccino and John Walker, and paid fines of $10 and costs, a total of $15 each.

Local drivers who were given tickets have the option of either appearing before the justice of the peace for a hearing, or mailing in their fines.

Seven police officers under the direction of Chief Vincent Faragalli took part in the arrests.

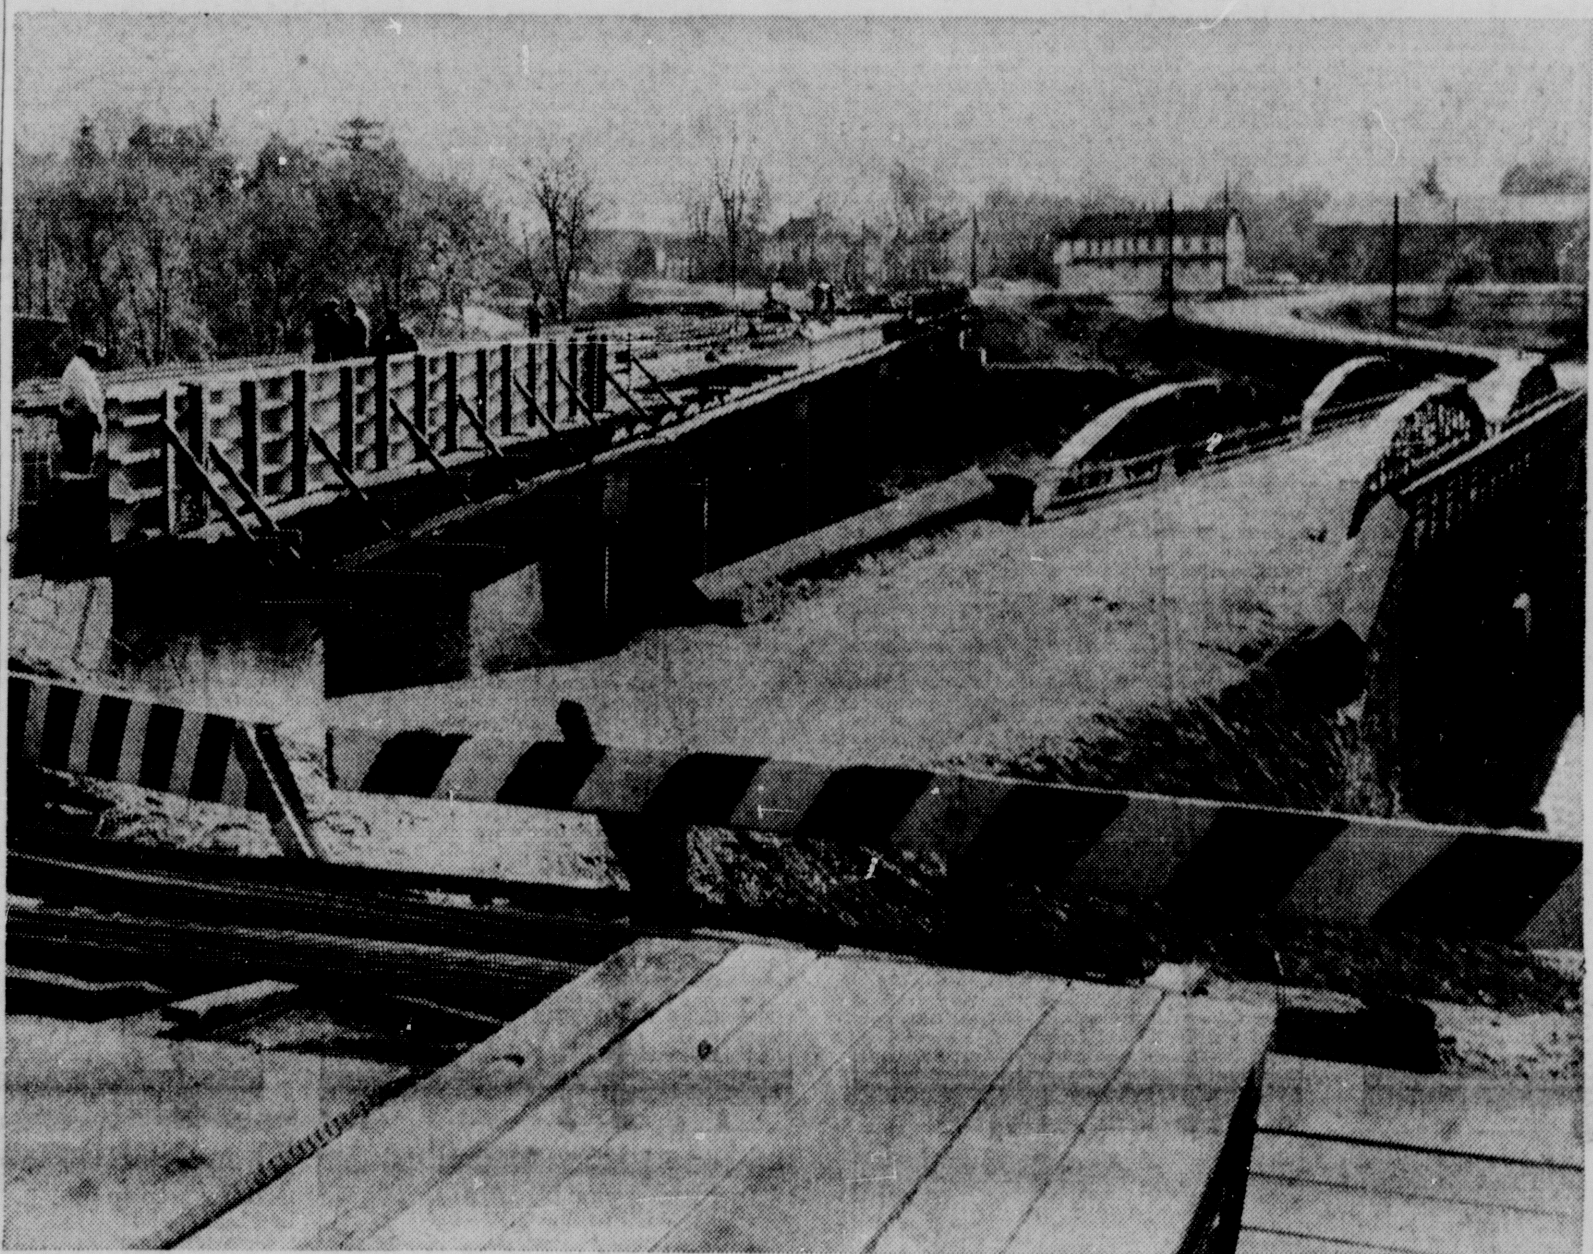

Viet Nam Nixes Appeals For Two

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI)—The government today turned down appeals for mercy by the brother of former President Ngo Dinh Diem and by his onetime secret police chief. Both will be executed by the guillotine within five days.

Ngo Dinh Can, brother of the assassinated president, and Phan Quang Dong, who served Can as secret police boss in central Viet Nam, were convicted by a revolutionary court of murder, illegal arrest, extortion and actions damaging the national economy.

The court condemned them to death by the guillotine.

Bridge Game Still Going On

Residents of Newport in Bensalem Township and Newportville in Bristol Township face at least six weeks more of waiting for the new bridge over the Neshaminy Creek to be ready for traffic. Looking from the Newport side of the creek, the new bridge is on the left. At right is the old span which linked the two communities before being closed to traffic this winter. (Courier - Times Photo)

6 Weeks Of Detours Still In The Cards

That bridge game which residents of Newportville in Bristol Township and Newport in Bensalem Township have been playing since the early days of winter will continue for some time.

Ever since the old stone bridge over the Neshaminy Creek was closed residents of the two areas have had to make a long detour to cross the creek and perhaps looked somewhat longingly at the start of a new span which would ease their problem.

Work on the new bridge was delayed first by the winter weather and then by the "rainy season" that set in during April. Officials of the state highway department's district office in Haverford and Coopersmith Bros., Inc., contractors for the $555,821 project, said concrete could not be poured during freezing weather unless provisions were made to heat it to allow it to cure properly. No provisions were made to heat concrete on the new bridge.

Although the work is ahead of schedule, neither the contractor nor the highway department could give a definite date for completion.

Nearly Finished

The decking on the span is nearly finished and it is expected that concrete will be poured for the roadbed within a few days. The concrete for the roadbed will not be poured in one piece it was learned, and each pouring must cure for 14 days before it can be opened to traffic or before another pouring can be made.

Residents of the area can apparently figure on a minimum of six weeks before the work is completed.

The old bridge was closed because of the unsafe condition of the approaches. At first, provisions were made to allow emergency vehicles to use the old span but a permanent closure was made after repeated acts of vandalism.

Chains stretched across the roadway at the bridge approaches were cut and wooden barricades removed. The situation grew so serious that at one point the contractor's insurance company refused to continue his insurance. At that time the state moved to close the bridge completely.

Man Lives As Car Flips...Flips...240 Feet

A Levittown man narrowly escaped death early this morning when his car went out of control and literally flew 240 feet before landing upside down in a lot along Route 13.

Harry E. Koble, 33, of 72 New School Lane, North Park, was admitted to Lower Bucks County Hospital at 6:45 a.m. with a possible concussion. His condition is described as "satisfactory."

Three other persons were injured in two auto accidents yesterday.

Sitting Near Car

Koble, who refused to give police a statement today, was found sitting up about five feet from his overturned auto when Patrolman Richard Boyle arrived on the scene at 6:21 a.m.

Koble told Boyle he was on his way home, but didn't tell the officer where he had been. Boyle said he slumped into unconsciousness moments later.

Koble's auto went off Route 13, across from the Premium Service station near the Levittown Shopping Center. He was traveling east when the vehicle hit a fire plug and went through a cyclone fence. The car, which apparently overturned a few times, landed on its roof on the property of the old Jersey Shore Supply Co. lumber yard.

The vehicle came to a stop about 100 yards from the fire plug, landing at the foot of the 10-foot deep embankment.

Taken to the hospital by the Levittown-Fairless Hills Rescue Squad, Koble had lacerations of the head and a puncture wound of the head, police reported.

Koble's 1953 sedan was demolished in the crash. Boyle said Koble will be charged with reckless driving.

You'd Think It Was Summer

Another summery day is in store for Lower Bucks today.

Temperatures, which hit a high of 75 at 5 p.m. yesterday, were expected to soar into the 70s again today. At 3 p.m. today the thermometer read 71 degrees.

Early - morning fog, which hampered motorists today, is expected to return tomorrow morning. However, sunny skies are forecast later tomorrow morning with temperatures again in the 70s.

Dickson Gets District Job

New Road Head Named In County

John Auerbach, Buckingham Township, has been appointed as Bucks County superintendent of highways in charge of maintenance of state highways within the county.

Announcement of the appointment was made today by Myron W. Harris, county chairman of the Republican County Committee, on a recommendation handed down from the Governor's Personnel Office.

Dickson Promoted

He replaces John Dickson who has been promoted to the staff of state highway district engineers, located in Haverford. Dickson will replace Harry Lancaster who recently resigned this post.

Auerbach is an executive member of the Republican committee, a member of the board of directors of Neshaminy Watershed Association, and past president of Bucks County Farmer's Association.

Was Top Aide

Prior to his appointment Auerbach was principal assistant superintendent of highways. He will be replaced by H. Kenneth Shelly, Doylestown. Harris said that Shelly was one of four assistant superintendents, and brings to his new post many years of experience which will be of great assistance to the new superintendent.

The moves were a part of the proposed intensive six-year program for better highways which became effective April 30.

'True Love' Back In Jail

Troy "True Love" Hearn, 34, the last of the runaways from Bucks County Prison, was brought back to the Doylestown jail last night after a week's absence.

Hearn of 223 Western Ave., Bristol, failed to return to prison last Tuesday morning from his job at a service station at Route 611 and Street Road, Neshaminy.

He faces larceny charges for allegedly taking a sedan belonging to a customer as well as about $130 in gasoline and vending machine receipts. He also faces a charge of prison breach.

Hearn was captured in West.

Naked Girl's Screams Fall On Deaf Ears

NEW YORK (UPI)—Police said today that 15 passersby watched a naked teen-age girl fighting off an assailant in a Bronx doorway and did nothing to help her.

The incident took place yesterday afternoon along a main business thoroughfare in the Bronx. The girl's screams attracted two policemen who arrested the assailant, a 26-year-old father of two, on charges of rape and felonious assault.

The case recalled the fatal stabbing of a 28-year-old waitress, Kitty Genovese, on a Queens street last month. Police said at least 38 neighbors witnessed her assailant's repeated assaults but did not come to her aid.

The 18-year-old girl, whose name was withheld, said she was working at her desk in a vacuum cleaner distributing firm when the man, Daniel G. Coughlin, entered the second floor office. Without warning, Coughlin, a salesman for the firm, attacked her, she said.

She said Coughlin tore off her clothes and raped her. She fainted and when she regained consciousness, Coughlin was standing over her with a razor blade. She said she threatened to kill her if she told anyone what had happened.

The girl told police she ran

Middletown GOP Picks Mrs. Stemme For Cahill's Seat

The Middletown Township Republican Executive Committee last night unanimously endorsed Mrs. Mary Stemme of Farkland to fill the next vacancy on the township board of supervisors.

The action follows statements by supervisor James L. Cahill that he will be leaving the township and will resign from the board sometime within the next few months.

Mrs. Stemme, the mother of four children, is president of the township GOP association and has been active in the party for 10 years. She is on the county executive committee, was a committeewoman for two years and was deputy tax collector in the township for one year.

Committee

The screening committee which endorsed Mrs. Stemme last night consisted of the association executives and the 26 GOP committeemen and committeewomen. Bruce Francisco, vice president of the association, was chairman of the screening committee.

Any vacancy on the board of supervisors will be filled by appointment from the board, on which Republicans now outnumber the Democrats by a 4-1 margin. The Republican board majority in the past has strongly considered the recommendations of the township GOP association.

Just when Cahill's resignation will come is still in doubt among Republicans. But it is certain his job in Rochester, N.Y., will require him to move from the township. He was unavailable for comment today.

First In History

If Mrs. Stemme should be appointed supervisor, she would be the first woman supervisor in the history of the township. There are presently no women supervisors in the Lower Bucks area. Mrs. Florence Krause, a Democrat, was elected to the Morrisville Borough Council last November and took office in January.

Mrs. Stemme, who actively sought the party's endorsement for the supervisor post, said she was "flattered" by the unanimity of the committee.

To Further Integration, Improve Facilities

Chester School Board Increases Budget, Taxes

CHESTER, Pa. (UPI) — The Chester school board, target of sometimes violent demonstrations by civil rights groups during the past five weeks, increased its budget and school taxes today to further integration and improve facilities.

The board announced after a meeting Monday night that it would put into effect the offers it made Negro groups last April 17 but which were rejected as "inadequate."

The board said it would change the boundaries of five schools in the eastern end of the city to relieve de facto segregation resulting from housing segregation.

The all-Negro and predominantly Negro schools will be repaired and modernized at a cost of $700,735 which will raise the new school board budget to $6,368,730 and increase the school tax rate on property from 44 to 46½ mills.

The board asked the state Labor and Industry Department to inspect all school buildings and the state Department of Public Instruction to make a study of the total educational program. The state Human Relations Commission was invited to join in the two studies.

While the board was meeting, the Chester Committee for Freedom Now (CCFN) staged another demonstration without incident. An estimated 150 persons, most of them juveniles made an orderly march around the municipal building and police station and then dispersed. Earlier in the day, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had severed all connections with the CCFN because the latter refused to abide by a moratorium on demonstrations during a Human Relations Commission public hearing into the situation.

The hearing opened Monday and an attorney for the NAACP promptly challenged the ability of the commission to enforce its decisions in the school situation. The commission admitted that its powers had not yet been tested. It then issued subpoenas to Stanley Branche, CCFN leader; Philip Savage, tri-state secretary of the NAACP, and George T. Raymond, president of the Chester NAACP chapter.

Suspect Held In Phila.

Bensalem Police To Charge Man With Child Molesting

Bensalem Township police have a warrant ready for a Philadelphia man charged yesterday by Philadelphia police with a series of child molestations and presently being held under $25,000 bail.

The man, Howard Vivian, Jr., a 21-year-old service station attendant, was held in bail after a hearing yesterday in Philadelphia with seven of the children he allegedly molested present at the hearing.

Vivian was ordered held in the bail by Judge J. Sydney Hoffman who set May 26 as the date for a further hearing.

Chief William Riempp of Bensalem police said that his men are ready to pick up Vivian in the event he is released on bail. Chief Riempp said that his men have been working on the case since January when an eight-year-old girl was picked up in Bensalem Township.

Vivian, who lives in the Morrell Park section of Northeast Philadelphia, admitted abduct-seven young boys when he was apprehended on Sunday evening after releasing a nine-year-old Cornwells Heights boy from his car in Philadelphia.

Most of the abductions took place in Philadelphia but at least two of the youths were molested in Bensalem Township according to Chief Riempp.

Warrant Charges

The Bensalem warrant charges Vivian with assault and battery, corrupting the morals of a minor, indecent assault, and tending to corrupt the morals of a minor.

Sergeant Gene Ashton of Bensalem police is in charge of the investigation locally.

Although Bensalem police had a photo composite made of the suspect by a police expert on the identifications supplied by his victims, no specific warning was issued to local parents. Chief Riempp said that his men and Philadelphia police had set up traps to apprehend the suspect on a number of occasions and did not want to tip him off to their surveillance of the areas bordering the Philadelphia - Bucks County border where the abductions and molestations took place.

In Rehabilitation Work

Warden Is Lauded By Commissioners

Major John D. Case, who has had a few prisoners "betray" him in the past couple months, shouldn't feel badly about it.

Yesterday, the Bucks County Prison warden was given a vote of confidence by the county commissioners who lauded Case for his pioneering in rehabilitation work.

Asked to comment on the escape of five prisoners in the past two months, Commission Chairman John J. Bodley said that he was willing to assume responsibility for the "calculated risks."

From Old To New

"You have to give up some security when you change from the old penal system to one of rehabilitation," Bodley said. "The warden shouldn't be discouraged," Bodley said. "He has our complete confidence and support."

Commissioners Joseph O. Canby and Walter S. Farley Jr. both praised the warden.

"On Trial"

Bodley said that the work release program was still "on trial."

"It may be a success or a failure," he said.

"When men are released from prison to go out to work," Farley said, "you can expect that a few of them will go astray."

Three inmates on the work release program have failed to return to the Doylestown jail. One is still at large.

Two of the escapes occurred over Easter weekend when the warden and his family were in North Carolina.

Cites Examples

Bodley said he still felt that there could be tightening up in the area of security even in the face of a liberalized prison policy.

He cited two examples. One was where an inmate, John Solido, walked out of jail using a rabbit as a ruse. The other occurred when Edward Pole took a key from the office, unlocked the gate and walked out.

Commissioner Threatens Test

Deadlocks On Salary Board Annoy Bodley

By JIM STANTON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Bucks County Commission Chairman John J. Bodley threatened today to make a test case out of the habitual 2-2 deadlocks on the salary board which block appointments.

Bodley made the threat after Minority Commissioner Walter C. Farley Jr., a Democrat, and Controller William R. Cameron yesterday refused to approve a salary for Alexander Dixon, Radcliffe St., Bristol, as a foreman with the county department of roads and bridges.

Dixon was hired earlier by Bodley and Commissioner Joseph O. Canby over Farley's objection.

Bodley said that he has Solicitor Samuel S. Gray doing research on whether members of a salary board have powers beyond the scope of "fixing a reasonable salary."

Rest Case

Bodley said if Gray finds the action of Farley and Cameron questionable, he will make a test case by filing a quo warranto proceeding in Bucks Common Pleas Court.

At yesterday's salary board meeting it was brought out that Dixon is a Republican committeeman in Bristol Borough. Canby contended that the appointment wasn't political and that Dixon could "do the work of two men." Farley said he felt the job wasn't necessary and later intimated that the appointment may be political.

Name Changed But He'll Be Paid

Bucks Compromises On Up-And-Down Job

The Bucks County Salary Board, consisting of the three commissioners and the county controller, yesterday reached a compromise regarding 77-year-old elevator operator, Albert W. Blackmer, who was hired two weeks ago.

Minority Commissioner Walter S. Farley Jr., who had held up Blackmer's salary, yesterday changed his mind with the provision that Commissioners John J. Bodley and Joseph O. Canby agree to change the job. Likes Automation voted against hiring an elevator operator for one of three self-service cars in the county administration building on the grounds that one wasn't necessary. Farley said he felt automation could do the job alone.

Farley, along with Cameron,

Will Assist Visitors

Farley agreed to allow Blackmer to be paid $14-a-day retroactive to April 20, provided the job be changed to that of a "receptionist - starter." Blackmer will begin this job on May 18, Farley said, adding that the commissioners would try the job as an experiment.

Assassination Coverage Wins UPI Writer Pulitzer Prize

NEW YORK (UPI) — Twelve Pulitzer Prizes and a special citation in journalism and letters were awarded Monday but for the first time since the prizes were established 47 years ago there was no award in three major fields of art.

Merriman Smith, White House reporter for United Press International, was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for national reporting for his coverage of the assassination of President Kennedy last Nov. 22. Smith, 51, has covered the White House for UPI for 22 years — spanning five presidential administrations—and in tenure is the senior member of the presidential press corps.

Omitted in the Pulitzer awards presented Monday by the trustees of Columbia University were prizes in the fields of fiction, drama and music. The Pulitzer advisory board, which makes recommendations on candidates to the Columbia trustees, reported that the jurors in the three arts fields did not submit a single nomination. Awards were presented in the fields of biography, history, general non-fiction and poetry.

In addition to Smith, the individual winners of Pulitzer Prizes in journalism were:

News photography—Robert H. Jackson of the Dallas Times Herald for his picture of the fatal shooting of President Kennedy's alleged assassin, Lee Harvey Oswald, by Jack Ruby.

International reporting—Malcolm W. Browne of the Associated Press and David Halberstam of the New York Times for coverage of the war in South Viet Nam and the overthrow of the Diem regime.

Numbers Writing Expose Wins Award

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Pulitzer Prize for special reporting was awarded Monday to two Evening Bulletin reporters and a photographer for their expose of an allegedly police-protected numbers writing ring.

The series by Albert V. Gaudiosi, James V. Magee and Frederick A. Meyer resulted in federal indictments for seven men and a police department shakeup. It was the second Pulitzer awarded here in the 48-year history of the awards. The first went to the now-defunct Public Ledger in 1931.

The story began when a man called the paper with information concerning the South Philadelphia numbers bank. He said he called the Bulletin because he knew the paper could be trusted not to reveal his name.

The Bulletin had just fought a court case in which it refused to disclose the identity of a news source to a special grand jury.

The president and city editor of the paper were cited for contempt and faced jail terms but did not divulge the source. The Pennsylvania Supreme Court decided the case in favor of the paper.

Just Routine For Smith

WASHINGTON (UPI)—To his colleagues, the award of the Pulitzer Prize to Merriman Smith was merely recognition of what he has been doing for more than two decades—staying on top of the big story.

The veteran United Press International White House reporter was awarded the prize for his eyewitness coverage of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

But to his fellow newsmen in UPI, his work in Dallas and Washington on that November weekend was simply standard Smith—clear, concise, correct.

The 51-year-old Smith, who has covered five presidents for UPI, was honored by the latest, President Johnson, after the Pulitzer Prize award was announced Monday.

'Package' Plan Asked On Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate leaders and Justice Department chiefs sought agreement today on a "package" of civil rights amendments which some hoped would produce a gag rule vote in about two weeks.

Senate Democratic Whip Hubert H. Humphrey, Minn., floor manager for the House-passed bill, estimated it would be possible to muster the votes to limit debate by "the third week in May."

GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., in whose office today's leadership huddle was being held, said he would unveil his amendment to the public accommodations section. The meeting was called to review this proposal, Dirksen's 11 employment amendments, and other changes proposed by backers of the legislation.

Johnson Asks Line On Wages

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson is appealing to United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther and other union leaders to limit wage increases to about 3.2 per cent a year.

The Chief Executive made the appeal last night at a White House dinner for about 65 top AFL-CIO officials and the president of the United Mine Workers Union (UMW). Johnson urged them to keep wage increases within the average productivity gain for the U.S. economy—figured at 3.2 per cent by his Council of Economic Advisers.

And 44 per cent it was.

Tullytown Borough wasn't listed in the rundown of municipalities that will have special trucks out this week to pick up trash and help out in the Clean-Up Week activities.

But Tullytown will have such a special pickup. Councilman Anthony Biancasino, chairman of the street committee, hadn't been able to select a date for the pickup yet since his street crew has a lot of work backed up on it following last week's rain.

The trucks will be out every day late this week and early next week, Biancasino said today, making a full tour of the borough each time. This will be in addition to the twice-weekly regular trash and garbage collection.

gel Catholic Church on Levittown Parkway has delayed the start of construction. Date for ground-breaking now is scheduled for early in July.

By that time the parish will have its eleventh annual "St. Michael's Levittown Fair" out of the way. The fair will be in the parking lot in front of St. Michael's school, occupying part of the ground on which the new church will be built.

A Middletown Township police officer found his car yesterday — with a few parts missing.

The car, a 1961 convertible belonging to Traffic Safety Officer George Haller, was stolen last Wednesday from the parking lot of McCafferty Ford on Route 1, where his wife Joan works.

At the time it was stolen, the car was equipped with special tires (valued at almost $400), a high-powered engine, numerous accessories and special hidden buttons to open the handleless door knobs.

When two detectives looked under the hood yesterday, they received quite a jolt. Gone were the entire engine, the driveshaft and everything else that could be removed.

The tires and the accessories were all gone as well.

The car was worth $2,300 before the theft. Now it's nothing but an empty shell, sitting in a lot at a service station at 4200 Orchard St. in Philadelphia.

Morrisville Yardley Makefield

Falls Granted OK For M'field Tie-In

The Lower Makefield Board of Supervisors last night unanimously approved a request by the Falls Sewer Authority to extend the sewer lines into the Hickory Hills West section.

The Falls Authority already had been given the right to service two sections in this area, and the supervisors only approved a third section.

"It wasn't economically feasible," Supervisor William Mackensen said, "to service half the section, without going ahead and serving the other half, too."

Besides, he said, Makefield had no plans for any sewer service near enough to serve Hickory Hill West, which is located on Big Oak Road near Oakdale section.

Lower Makefield has just obtained permission from Yardley and Morrisville to route sewer lines to the Morrisville treatment plant.

Other Action

The supervisors also approved stop signs to be installed at Reading Ave. at Sandy Run

Road, and at Concord Lane and Highland Drive. Police Chief Robert Waterson approved the requests.

Arthur Bledsoe, president of the Valleywood Civic Association, asked that the 35 m.p.h. speed limit be extended along Big Oak Road past Valleywood to the new Route 13 extension (Pine Grove Road).

The board advised him that it had already made application for this extension but it takes about six to nine months to get state approval.
